

Anenhütte/ Rock metal climbing

www.hikingloop.ch

Variant route Via ferrata (Rock metal climbing)

From the Fafleralp car park, go up the right bank of the Lonza river for 200 meters to the bridge. Cross the river and follow "Anenhütte" on the left bank. After about 1 km of walking, the road branches off to follow the river or along the "Grundsee". It's up to you and the two routes come together. Thereafter, always follow "Anenhütte" to the altitude point 1998. Turn right towards Rock metal climbing (indication, blue sign T4). Follow to the start of the via ferrata which is indicated. At the exit of the via ferrata, follow to the right (direction Loetschenlücke), climb slightly and return towards the Anenhütte hut. For the return, several possible routes to reach Fafleralp.

Practical information

Beautiful hike that takes place in the mythical Lötschental. Extremely preserved valley. In autumn, the colors are sumptuous. The "Anenhütte" is a private Mountain refuge, with 4-star comfort, even with a Wellness suite for two people. <https://anenhuetten.ch/site/fr/>

The via ferrata begins with free ladders on smooth slabs, divided by terraces, in a slight zigzag. After about 60 meters of climbing, there is an area with grass and rocks, where you cross under a large boulder. The third section presents a short vertical passage slightly sloping, on which six narrow rungs make it easier for you to cross. the following is a mixed terrain without much difficulty.

Rating: between K1 and K3

length: 450 meters

drop: about 200 meters

time: between 1:30 and 2 hours

In principle, you must report to the hut keeper to pay the CHF 10.— per person (5.— for children). This via ferrata is a private initiative of the caretaker.

info@rando-en-boucle.ch

www.rando-en-boucle.ch

www.hikingloop.ch